Predictions of future huge sea level rise in southeast United States has become a scare tactic. Predictions of 2 M by 2100 are common from PhD scientists. We plan to show the actual rise of sea level in SE US from data and examine long term trends and short term trends. Ironically the typical data show increases of 2-3 mm per year similar to the usual global averages.